The Northwestern Pennsylvania GIS User Group serves as a way to bring together Geographic Information System (GIS) users in northwestern Pennsylvania (and beyond). The NWPGUG is an avenue for gaining a better understanding of GIS and related technologies and for keeping the GIS community updated.

Other benefits of attending/participating in the NWPGUG:

- Stay up to date with ever-changing geospatial technology
- Share resources, data, and ideas
- Network with peers and colleagues
- Meet others in the GIS field
- Seek technical support and request specific training

The County of Venango hosts quarterly NWPGUG meetings in Franklin, PA. Meeting consist of (but not limited to) a presentation on a topic of interest, a presentation by a member of the user group, a technical presentation, and an information exchange session.

The NWPGUG is an informal gathering that is open to anyone (from anywhere) interested in GIS technology. If you have comments and/or suggestions for the NWPGUG please feel free to share them. Agenda content will be driven based on member requests, comments, suggestions, etc.

Please contact Matt Gilara, GISP at (814) 432-9515 or mgilara@co.venango.pa.us if you have any questions or comments regarding the NWPGUG.
